

Special Drop-In Sessions

Deepavali 2018, Festival of Light

What to expect

Deepavali, The Festival of Light, is a wonderful occasion during the year providing rich inspiration to a wide range of learning experiences for children.

During this special event, the Blue House Infant & Toddler Ateliers will come to life with traditional scents representative of the festival, dress up clothes and an array of fabrics of different colours and textures.

Colour plays a huge part in the festival and culture surrounding the occasion, and children will enjoy rangoli and coloured rice and paper providing opportunities for patterning.

Light is central to the experiences explored in our Blue House Infant & Toddler Ateliers and during Deepavali light is at the heart of the occasion. Both natural and artificial light form a huge part of the provocations and experiences we create for children - light, dark, shadow, angles and the way light can change materials.

Books, music, video projection and songs will fill our Atelier spaces with the colour, vibrancy, energy and beauty of this wonderful celebration. And feel free to dress-up, as our Blue House Atelier team will join in the colour and vibrancy of the celebration with traditional outfits and inspiration.

Join us in a sea of colour, sound, scent and experiences and enjoy The Festival of Light.
