Inspiration: Metal

This weekly Playgroup series takes children on a voyage through the multiple possibilities offered to us through exploring the world of metal.

From some initial encounters with metal materials and objects, children will be taken on a journey of discovery, utilising their sense of sound, sight, touch and smell.

When children wander within their own community, they will see and experience metal used in a multitude of ways, supporting our daily life in one way or another. This playgroup offers an opportunity for children to connect with the world through real-life, meaningful objects, manipulating them in different ways and exploring beyond their initial understanding of the materials.

Children will discover the different properties of metal and parents will gain further understanding about how open-ended materials such as metal can be used to support children's learning and development. Through inviting, open-ended and meaningful provocations and experiences, families will explore metal and its relationships, deepening their knowledge and understanding of the possibilities that metal brings.
